12 MCLE Credits
12 CPD Hours
12 CNB Hours

Objective

As approaches to key issues may differ from one region to another, the success of an arbitration depends greatly on an understanding of local legal cultures and attitudes. The purpose of this 5th Annual ICC Conference on International Commercial Arbitration in Latin America will be to shed light on aspects of international commercial arbitration that are particularly relevant to Latin American cases.

International Court of Arbitration

The ICC International Court of Arbitration has a distinguished and long-standing history of international dispute resolution. In 2006 alone it received almost 600 requests for arbitration from all over the world. Of the 1,613 parties involved in the cases filed with the ICC Court in 2006, 12.7% came from Latin America and the Caribbean.

Who should attend?

The topics covered will be of interest to practicing lawyers, corporate counsel, arbitrators, mediators, academics and business persons who come from Latin America or do business there, or simply wish to increase their understanding of international commercial arbitration in that region.

Conference Programme

Sunday 4 November 2007
6:00	Welcome reception
Monday 5 November 2007
08:00 – 09:00	Registration
09:00 – 12:45	Welcoming remarks and conference overview <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Aims of the conference■ New views on ICC dispute resolution services in Latin America■ The status of international arbitration in Latin America from a North American viewpoint International arbitration in Latin America: current trends Comprising regional experts and representatives of the ICC International Court of Arbitration, this panel will discuss tendencies emerging from recent cases involving Latin American parties, evaluate the latest judgments from Latin American courts, and analyze legal developments in the region, particularly in Central America and the Caribbean. Discussion
Evidence in international arbitration	The presence of diverse legal traditions in international arbitration involving Latin American parties becomes particularly clear at the evidence stage. This panel will analyze practices currently followed by counsel and arbitrators when dealing with evidence. Particular consideration will be given to differences in the production of oral and documentary evidence and ways of achieving greater efficiency in such production.
Discussion
12:45 – 2:30	Lunch
2:30 – 5:30	Multi-contract arbitration in Latin America: a mock case An increasing number of requests involving Latin American parties seek to bring claims arising out of different contracts within one and the same arbitration. Through the study of a mock case, this session will examine the main issues raised by arbitrations relating to multi-contract situations, and current thinking in favour of a single arbitration covering several contracts. Discussion
Recent developments in ethical considerations relating to international arbitration	In recent years, U.S. courts rendered groundbreaking decisions that affect an arbitrator's duty of impartiality, independence and disclosure, as well as a party's right to challenge arbitration awards on these grounds.

This panel of arbitration practitioners will examine a few of these cases and engage in an interactive exchange with the participants to discuss the significance of these decisions vis-a-vis the future development of international arbitration.

Discussion

Tuesday 6 November 2007

09:00 – 12:30

Arbitrating construction disputes in Latin America

Arbitration is widely used in Latin America as a dispute resolution mechanism in construction contracts. This session will focus in particular on characteristic features of construction contract arbitration, the preparation of construction claims, and the evaluation and calculation of damages.

Discussion

Influence of public international law in international commercial arbitration

Public international law is increasingly permeating international commercial arbitration. Experts in the field will assess the influence and application of public international law principles in commercial disputes, particularly those involving States and/or parastatal entities. Attention will also be given to conflicts of jurisdiction and law arising in treaty- and contract-based arbitration.

Discussion

12:30 – 2:30 Lunch

2:30 – 5:15

Understanding ICC arbitration

This session will give participants the chance to increase their knowledge and understanding the workings of the ICC International Court of Arbitration and the application of the ICC Rules. Current and former ICC officers will draw on their first-hand experience to answer questions presented in advance by participants on issues facing ICC arbitration practitioners today.

Corporate perspective on international arbitration

Company managers, corporate counsel and in-house lawyers play key roles in international arbitration. This panel will bring together these players to examine the role they play at various stages, such as when drafting the arbitration clause, negotiating prior to or during the arbitration, selecting counsel and arbitrators, and assessing the financial impact of the arbitration.

Welcoming remarks

- Nancy M. Thevenin, Deputy Director, Arbitration and ADR, North America, ICC International Court of Arbitration
- Katherine González Arrocha, Director, ICC Dispute Resolution Services, Latin America

An arbitrator's approach to case-management

This panel will discuss the arbitrator's role in ensuring effective case-management. Attention will be given to the recently-published report of the ICC Commission on Arbitration, Techniques for Controlling Time and Costs in Arbitration, and to issues specific to ICC arbitration such as the role played by the arbitrator during the drafting of the Terms of Reference and the procedural timetable, and the use and scope of Article 19 of the Rules.

- Julián Treviño, Partner, Borda y Quintana S.C., Mexico city, Mexico; Co-chair Commercial Law Committee Mexican Bar Association
- Noah Rubins, Counsel, Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer, Paris, France

A counsel's approach to case-management

Young practitioners will address practical issues related to the use of procedural mechanisms for ensuring efficiency in arbitration including the effective use of written pleadings, the need for different stages of written submissions, the use of dispositive motions and the advocacy role played by counsel during the oral hearings.

- Felipe Ossa G., Lawyer, Claro & Cia., Santiago, Chile
- Claudia T. Salomon, Partner, DLA Piper, New York, USA; Chair of the Young Arbitrators Forum (YAF)
